Project requirements

Sika was selected to supply the new resin floor for Taula Beverages, based on the strong trust and reliability demonstrated by Cotek Industrial Flooring through decades of successfully installing tens of thousands of square metres of Sika flooring systems.

Sika solutions

Sikafloor-150 Plus was used to form covings and finish around plant feet, creating smooth, seamless detailing throughout. The main flooring build-up used Sikafloor-21 PurCem FG with Sikafloor-31 PurCem as a hard-wearing, chemical-resistant topcoat, delivering a durable and hygienic surface suited to brewery conditions.

The system was supplied in a custom Sky Blue finish, providing a clean contrast against the stainless steel and aluminium brewing equipment. Sikaflex Pro-3 Purform was used for joint sealing, ensuring long-term flexibility and durability across all floor areas.

Challenges

- Elevated ambient temperatures would accelerated the curing time of any products used before they were fully installed. Chilling of the product prior to application was required to overcome this
- A non-slip surface was essential to maintain worker safety
- Strict hygiene requirements demanded seamless, easy-to-clean flooring throughout
- Installation required navigating complex structural elements to create covings and terminations
- Maintaining a high-quality aesthetic finish while addressing technical installation challenges
